Childers Heads Madison Education Board; Supt. Riddle to Retire in '73

By GARY SCHNEIDER

Press-Record Staff Writer

Fred Riddle, superintendent of the Madison public schools during the past three years, announced Thursday night that he is retiring July 1.

Riddle gave his retirement request to the Madison Board of Education at its regular meeting.

He said that since he has one month of vacation, his departure will be about June 1. Riddle formerly was a principal of Madison High School before moving to Collinsville eight years ago. He served five years as Collinsville's athletic director before accepting the superintendent's post here. Riddle has been an educator 28 years.

The retirement was granted unanimously by the board. New board member Donald Boyer was seated after the old board canvassed the votes from the April 14 school board election. No changes from the unofficial vote tallies were reported.

Chester McManaway, re-elected member, was seated for another term. Harold T. Fisk, former board president who also was re-elected, was absent.

The new board voted to have James Childers serve as the new board president, and named Fisk secretary. The board was unanimous in the choices.

Attorney William Kinder and Board Treasurer Raymond Kozielek were retained by unanimous votes.

One of the first items of business for the new board was to vote to end the split-shift schedule at Madison Junior High School after the present school year.

Childers requested that a motion be made for full days of classes next year and Willie Walker, board member, presented the motion. The unanimous approval of the board was followed by a comment from a parent in the audience, "That is beautiful."

Riddle admitted after the meeting that overcrowding could be a problem next year as 425 students are expected and the school is designed to accommodate between 350 and 400 students.

TRAIN-AUTO ACCIDENT

An auto driven by Kenneth L. Coleman, 1914 Twelfth St., Madison, was struck by a Granite City Steel Co. switch engine operated by Robert D. Gerard, 2428 Benton St., knocking it into the auto of Lesley E. Prather, 4029 Road Ave., at 10:55 p.m. Thursday at the Edwardsville Road rail crossing.

HOUSE BURGLARY

The home of Mrs. Carolyn Lenace, 712 Jackson St., W. Madison, was burglarized between 8:30 p.m. Friday and 2:30 a.m. Saturday. Burglars made off with a portable TV valued at $109 and a record player valued at $24. Entry was gained by breaking a window on the north side of the house.

Overcrowding led to fights and other problems two years ago, which caused the board to try a split shift.

Childers commented, "It's going to the full shift and see if maybe now it won't work out."

The board increased the salaries for next year of the board secretary from $75 per month to $100 per month and the salary of the treasurer was increased from $100 to $125 per month.

Owens-Illinois to Move

Owens-Illinois, Inc., announced Friday in Toledo, Ohio, it will build a modern corrugated shipping box plant at Mount Olive, Ill., to replace its facility in Madison.

Edwin D. Dodd, president, said the site for the multimillion dollar shipping box plant is situated to enable the company to continue to serve the growing metropolitan St. Louis and Central Illinois areas.

The site at Mount Olive, just off Interstate 55 about 45 miles northeast of St. Louis, is located at the exact center of the distribution area served by Owens-Illinois in these markets, Dodd said.

Construction of the new 170,000 square-foot plant, to include warehouse and office space, will begin soon on a 35-acre site, Dodd said. Production is expected to begin in the plant by May 1974. Production will continue here until then.

Dodd said the Mount Olive plant will replace the smaller plant in Madison because "it is no longer feasible to continue operations due to the age of the facility."

The Madison plant, located in a rail center used by many railroads, was built before the turn of the century for production of Pullman cars.

Owens-Illinois sold the local facility in 1969 and has leased it since that time. The present lease expires in June 1974.

Operations are expected to begin in the new plant before production is phased out at the Madison plant.

All of the present 130 Owens-Illinois employees in Madison plant will be asked to remain with the company in the new facility.

"Because of the condition and age of the Madison plant and its location in a railroad complex which precluded modernization or expansion, we had to find another location which would allow us to build a more efficient facility, expand, and retain the present workforce," Dodd said.

"The Mount Olive site will permit our continued growth in this area."

The new plant's fully automated corrugator, the principal piece of equipment in a corrugated box plant, will be the most modern in the industry.

The corrugator produces corrugated board from which corrugated boxes are made by combining linerboard and corrugating medium in a high-speed continuous process.

Ultimately, the new corrugator will permit doubling of the current corrugated board capacity of the Madison plant.

Several other new pieces of equipment will be installed in the Mount Olive plant, and these high-speed units will be supported by a conveyor system for materials handling.

William T. Kolva, general manager of the Madison plant and a veteran of 33 years with Owens-Illinois, will remain as general manager of the new plant.

Kolva pointed out that a long, detailed study preceded selection of the new site, which is served by a main line of the Norfolk and Western Railroad and has necessary utilities.

Harassment by McManaway

Chester McManaway of the Madison School Board on Thursday pushed and shoved a Press-Record reporter in an apparent effort to prevent discussions between board members from being heard.

Literally as well as figuratively, throwing his weight around, McManaway boasted that he could throw attendance unless permission to attend was sought and granted. "You can put that in the paper if you want to," he added.

No vote to go into executive session was taken; the talk was called a caucus.

McManaway did not seek board ratification for his stand but insisted, "I am one man telling you to leave."

A spectator commented to the newsmen that McManaway feels he is a "one-man board" and tries to guide school district policy on his own between board meetings.

While McManaway is a former board president, he did not hold that position in 1972-73 and did not obtain the post for 1973-74 at Thursday night's reorganization.

Supt. Fred Riddle later apologized for McManaway's behavior but McManaway did not.

A former Madison city treasurer, McManaway, 58, has served on the school board for 15 years. Once a truck driver and railroad conductor, he opened a real estate and insurance agency after gaining a foothold in Madison politics.

LACK OF LARGE INDUSTRIAL PARKS already developed was cited Friday as a factor in the Owens-Illinois decision to abandon its Madison facility and build at Mount Olive, Ill., a new shipping box plant like this one. The plant shown is located at Circleville, Ohio. A 35-acre site was needed, larger than those available at the Stephen Maeras Industrial Park in Madison. There are thousands of acres of manufacturing sites between the Quad-Cities and Alton, but most of the area does not yet have streets built and utilities installed, a procedure considered helpful in attracting industry.

Large Treatment Plant Approved

By HARRY BARNES

Press-Record Staff Writer

A permit for construction of Granite City's secondary sewage treatment plant under design specifications providing capacity operation at 25 million gallons per day has been granted by the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency.

Issuance of the permit ends a long wait by city officials for a state decision as to whether the plant engineering would be approved with a capacity of 23 million gallons daily, as originally designed, or at 20 million gallons daily, a figure favored by the state EPA.

A series of public hearings by both federal and Illinois State EPA authorities was held earlier this year on the question of operating capacity for the proposed new plant, which is to be built adjacent to the city's present primary treatment plant.

The permit clears the way for review of the project by federal EPA officials and the fixing of a priority for a federal grant which, under present regulations, can be as much as 75% of the cost.

The city now has a tentative contract agreement with a St. Louis construction firm at a bid price of $10.8 million.

Aaron Pierson, vice-president of the M. W., Inc., Architects and Engineers, St. Louis consulting engineers who designed and engineered the secondary treatment plant, said the permit "is nothing more than that" and does not guarantee either state or federal grant funds.

He said the state permit is subject to review by the U. S. EPA before applications for grant funds can be considered. The federal government has cut back allotments for water pollution control projects and present prospects for federal funds are uncertain. The size of the new treatment plant at 23 million gallons daily was questioned by the Illinois EPA after Corn Sweeteners Inc., discontinued its major operations of the former Miles Laboratories plant here earlier this year, reducing the flow of effluent at the primary plant to about 5 million gallons daily.

Granite City officials argued in the hearings that the 23 million gallon design was based in the potential growth of the area and the eventual use of treatment facilities here by surrounding communities and unincorporated areas.

2 Youths Drown

Two Florissant, Mo., youths,

19, apparently drowned when their pickup truck went out of control, crashed into the Cahokia Canal and landed on its top in about 15 feet of water at 3 p.m. Sunday on the frontage road at the St. Louis International Raceway south of Madison.

They were identified as Gerald Bellman, the driver, and Jordan F. Goeke Jr.

Mr. Bellman was found in the water by a St. Clair County recovery unit about 50 yards west of the vehicle.

Mr. Goeke was pinned inside the truck by the steering column, according to the St. Clair County sheriff's office.

The two were taken to an East St. Louis funeral home pending arrangements on services and burial.

New Flooding Threat

About 100 volunteers are needed immediately to help fill sandbags to brace the levee at Chouteau Island.

It was announced today by William Eisele, Illinois Civil Defense Mutual Aid Area coordinator.

Rivers are making a rapid rise in this region, with a 43-foot forecast for Thursday at St. Louis.

Officials said about 100,000 sandbags were to be delivered to the Chouteau Island levee site this morning.

David Fox, chairman of the Tri-City Red Cross Chapter, said the unit was notified last night that its emergency feeding services were needed, starting at 9 a.m. today.

Red Cross volunteers arranged to begin serving levee workers from temporary facilities immediately, Fox said.

The Chain of Rocks Canal locks will close at 8 p.m. today and construction will begin on a flood protection barrier to minimize current in the canal.

The flood dam, used during high water earlier this month, should be completed by 4 p.m. tomorrow.

The Alton locks on the river were to close at 2 p.m. today. The predicted Mississippi River level of 43 feet would top the St. Louis record of 41.3 feet set in 1944.

An earlier 1973 crest of 39.8 feet was reached April 5.

A total of 1.56 inches of rain fell in the Quad-City area since Friday, with 1.06 inches of the fall recorded yesterday morning at the Chain of Rocks Locks, which maintains weather rec-

3-Year Prison Term For Former Governor

With a three-year prison term and $50,000 fine meted out to former Gov. Otto Kerner late Thursday, U. S. Senator Adlai Stevenson III Friday called on Kerner to resign as a Seventh U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals judge. The conviction relates to a race track stock scheme.

Kerner, 64, who served as governor of Illinois from 1961 to 1968, is the first sitting federal judge ever convicted.

He and his former state revenue director, Theodore J. Isaacs, 62, each was sentenced to three years on each of 11 counts, all to run concurrently.

The sentencing by U. S. District Judge Robert Taylor followed a 15-minute statement in which Kerner emphasized, "I was never tainted and my integrity was never bought. In the end, this will bring me peace—no matter how disgraced I stand."

The judge said the former governor could be granted parole at any time during his prison term. Kerner and Isaacs were allowed to remain free on recognizance bond pending appeal of the guilty verdicts.

Each was convicted by a jury two months ago of bribery, conspiracy, mail fraud and income tax evasion. Kerner also was convicted of perjury in testimony to a federal grand jury and in statements to Internal Revenue Service agents.

The two were found guilty on all 19 counts of an indictment alleging they conspired to buy track stock

GSI Income Up In 1st Quarter

General Steel Industries, Inc., reported net income of $555,000, or 22 cents per share of common stock, for the three months ended March 31, 1973, compared with a net loss of $410,000, or 16 cents per share, in the first quarter of 1972. W. Ashley Gray, Jr., president, announced Thursday at the annual meeting of stockholders.

Sales in the first quarter of 1973 for the five continuing divisions of GSI were $11,583,000 compared with $9,908,000 in the first quarter last year.

GSI's pre-tax income from the five operating divisions was $500,000 for the first quarter of 1973 compared with $690,000 in 1972.

As previously reported, past problems at the discontinued Car and Castings units left GSI with unusually heavy indebtedness and interest charges.

Gray said interest expense allocated to the five operating divisions was $454,000 greater than in the same period last year. However, he also reported that GSI has repaid over $11,000,000 of the $43,000,000 in indebtedness refinanced late last December.

Car production at St. Louis Car Division was discontinued this week with the shipment of the last subway vehicle in an order for the New York City Transit Authority.

Operations at the Castings Division plant in Granite City, Illinois will be phased out by the end of 1973. Sale of equipment from the two factories is under way, and the real estate will be offered for sale when production and clean-up are completed.

The backlog of orders for GSI's five operating divisions as of March 31, 1973, stood at $14,202,000 compared with $10,848,000 for the same date in 1972.

The five are National Roll Division, Flex-O-Lite Division, Standard Pipe Protection Division, Ludlow-Saylor Wire Cloth Division, and Simplicity Engineering Company.

Alltime County Bond Sales $200 Million

Madison County residents purchased a total of $200,787,717 in Series E and H United States Savings Bonds from May 1941 through December 1972.

The Treasury estimates that $71,258,000 is still in the hands of private residents earning $8,313,497 in interest, according to Henry D. Karandeff, Granite City, volunteer county chairman of the Savings Bonds committee.

In February, county residents purchased a total of $395,622 in savings bonds.

Bond sales in the state of Illinois from May 1941 through December 1972 were $12,262,213,335 with an estimated $4,345,000,000 still outstanding and earning annual interest of $202,462,500 according to Clarence S. Schowch, North Central Regional Director for the Department of the Treasury's Savings Bonds Division.

Purchases in February in the state were $41,247,828 or 21% more than February 1972.

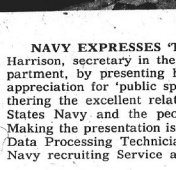

Sales in February accounted for 7% of the national total of $229,000,000 and in the first two months, 18.9% of the Illinois 1973 goal of $417,400,000 has been achieved.

ROTC Plays Big Part In Security—Price

The nation's security depends heavily on Reserve Officers Training Corps, Congressman Melvin Price, representative from the 23rd Congressional District of Illinois, said Thursday.

Speaking at the annual Dining-In and Awards Ceremony of Air Force ROTC Detachment 26, Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, Price said, "The significance of the ROTC is its role of commitment, working toward the ultimate goal of security for the United States. The best way to insure peace is to be prepared for war."

Expressing strong support for military preparedness, the Congressman cited numerous international "challenges and dangers" and he said, "we must be prepared to fight."

"Maybe someday there will be no war, and no need for weapons, but that time is not yet here," Price declared. "ROTC is core necessary that ever today to bring capacity to the officers corps."

The Dining-In was held at the Scott Air Force Base Officer Club, Belleville.

Approximately one-fifth of the 73-member Air Force ROTC at SIUE were honored at the Awards Ceremony which preceded the address by Congressman Price.

Cadet Col. Richard Wilkinson, Collinsville, commander of the AFROTC Detachment at SIUE, received the Air Force Association Award, presented to a superior cadet who ranks in the upper 10% of his class.

County, School Posts Held Incompatible

Atty. Gen. William J. Scott has held that a member of a county board of supervisors cannot also be a member of a school board within the same county.

Scott's opinion on that subject was requested by St. Clair County Board of Supervisors. The attorney general noted that the statute which provides for local sharing of Illinois income tax revenues allow counties to allocate such funds for school purposes.

The opinion focused on the fact that "...if a member of the county board is also a member of the school board, then he would be in a position to vote funds for the benefit of his particular school district. Although he would not be in a position to benefit himself personally, it is doubtful that the county board would faithfully perform the duties of each office."

Scott concluded, therefore, that the two offices are incompatible under the law.

Seek Funds for Land Proposed As County Park

The Education and Recreation Committee of the Madison County Board has filed applications for state and federal funds to help purchase a 42.69-acre tract on Route 111 just north of Pontoon Beach for development as a park.

The land is owned by Fifth District Appellate Court Judge George Moran of Granite City and his brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Schroeder.

The tract fronts on Route 111 on the east and Long Lake on the west.

The application lists the value of the property at $3,000 to $4,000 per acre while the tax assessment for 1972 was less than $500 per acre.

Judge Moran, who noted the property is taxed as farmland, said he is not actively selling the ground and would just as soon not be involved.

Madison County Board Chairman Louis Whitsell of Pontoon Beach, committee chairman, said that in his opinion the land is worth $5,000 an acre and that the tract was selected because of its location in a population center.

At $3,000, the cost would be about $128,000. The application for a decision is received on the application.

Closed Circuit TV to Monitor State Prisons

By JOAN MURARO
Copley News Service

Springfield-Inmates at Pontiac and Stateville penitentiaries will soon be on their own version of "candid camera" whenever they gather in large numbers on the prison grounds.

Under a $200,000 grant from the Illinois Law Enforcement Commission, closed circuit television will be installed to monitor the dining hall, chapel and outside yard areas at each prison. The state department of corrections will contribute another $68,000 toward the project, expected to be completed and operational by Sept. 1.

Similar, less extensive electronic monitoring has been done at Menard prison for a number of years with both guards and inmates there reported heavily in favor of the surveillance because it generates an increased feeling of security.

Under the ILEC grant, the job must be under contract by June 30, and the funds expire Sept. 30, unless the money is spent by that time. The grant is one of 30 by the commission, totalling $7.2 million to improve criminal justice operations in the state. At least $3.3 million will be used in the metropolitan Chicago area.

Cameras will not invade inmates' privacy by surveying convicts in their cells and will not be used in lieu of guards, but are instead, intended to supplement guards by providing a constant check on areas where large inmate concentrations can, and in the past some times have, generated outbreaks resulting in injuries and death to inmates and correctional officers.

It is expected that, as at Menard, the psychological effect of knowing the cameras are present will, in itself, diminish many incidents, since the cameras are equipped for closeups through zoom lenses, and incidents monitored can be videotaped for permanent records.

At Stateville and Pontiac, the chapel and dining hall will be monitored and video taped every time they are in use by inmates. The chapel is often used for various recreational activities, as well as for religious services.

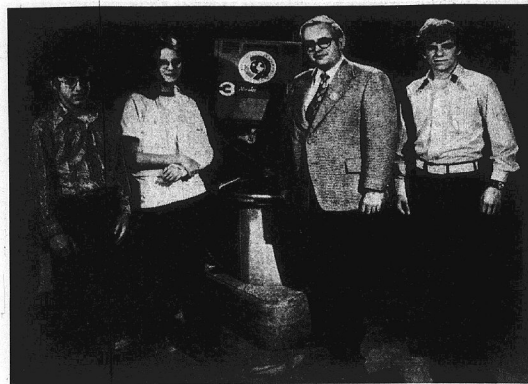

If an incident occurs in either place, it will automatically be recorded without any action by a corrections officer. During normal operations when no incidents occur, the tapes will be reviewed and then erased for use again the following day.

In the outside yard areas at both prisons, surveillance will be maintained when inmate activities are scheduled. The equipment there will be under control of a corrections officer in the command, control and communications center located in a security section of the prison. From that post, the officer in charge will be able to pan, tilt and zoom the cameras and record events on video tape, if an incident breaks out.

In addition, at Pontiac there are "blind" areas in the outside yards which cannot be seen from either the wall or the inside towers. Monitors there will be manned during any part of the day when inmates have legitimate access to any of these critical outside areas.

At Menard, where electronic surveillance began in the late '60s, the chapel, dining room and psychiatric division are monitored by two cameras each.

Restoration Society Plans Clean-Up Day

A Spring Clean-Up project will be sponsored April 28 by the Downtown Neighborhood Restoration Society to coincide with "Keep America Beautiful" set aside nationally for the beautification of property.

Plans were completed for the initial public project of the Society at a meeting held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Melton, 2242 Delmar Ave. They have secured 175 liter bags for the event and trucks to haul away the bags will be donated by G. H. Sternberg Co.

Following the day-long work session, an outdoor buffet will be held on the ground of St. Bartholomew's Episcopal Church, 22nd Street and Grand Avenue.

Walter Padgett, president of the group, welcomed several new members and introduced the elected officers. They are Jack French, vice-president; John Melford, treasurer; Mrs.

Rogers, Melford, secretary; Mrs. Judy Padgett, historian, and Bob McLaughlin and Mrs. Vicky Melton, directors.

Other future events discussed by the group include participation in the Jaycee Homecoming in June, sponsoring an Art Fair in downtown Granite City in late summer, and a Home Walk in May.

During the meeting, the president outlined the purposes of the society and plans for future projects in conjunction with the restoration of homes and property.

He also read a letter of congratulation from the Downtown Retail Merchants Association on the work already accomplished by the organization. The letter also urged more residents to take part in the long-range program.

Most Would Cooperate In Environment Cleanup

Springfield — In the interest of a cleaner environment, the majority of Illinois residents are willing to separate their trash, quit buying paper cups and haul their beverage containers back to the store to get their deposits back.

At least so says a recently completed survey done by the survey research laboratory at the University of Illinois for the Illinois Institute for Environmental Quality.

The lengthy survey reported that most Illinois residents were willing to change their life-styles to some extent to achieve a cleaner environment, though they were more willing if they were under 40. They were also somewhat more willing to pay more to achieve the desired goals if they were in the upper economic brackets, while those with lower incomes were less inclined to agree to increase costs.

Not surprisingly, where the residents live affected their answers. Most felt that pollution of rivers and lakes was the most serious source of pollution in the state, followed by air pollution, pollution from solid waste and noise pollution. In that order, while most indicated they had occasionally been bothered as well by some form of visual pollution.

City residents were more likely to be concerned about pollution than suburban or rural residents with those in Chicago and other cities with a population of 100,000 or more having the most concern for ways of collecting, processing and disposing of trash and garbage. Every tenth Chicagoan and every fourth non-white Chicagoan an experiencing problems with rats.

Overall, those surveyed gave the most support to plans to separate glass, metal and paper trash, to purchase products with as little outside packaging as possible, and to paying a deposit on all glass containers.

By more than eight out of ten they approved all three of these proposals, with more than 90% indicating they would cooperate in a plan for sorting out the trash before discarding it, while 81% indicated they would be willing to pay a deposit on each glass container they bought.

More than 85% of the survey found, said they would be willing to stop buying paper plates and cups or by purchasing products with a minimum of outside packaging, as a way of controlling solid waste.

By and large, according to the survey, a significant interest in environmental quality exists, and "The challenge is to utilize this interest in a constructive way."

Full State Funding of New School Building Proposed

The case for full state funding of school construction has been strengthened by the steps which have been taken in Maryland, according to George C. Ackert, professor of educational administration at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Ackert, who has made detailed studies of school funding problems in Illinois, has proposed a "pay-as-you-build" state controlled capital financing program for Illinois school districts. He believes the plan would reduce long term costs of facilities by as much as one-third.

He says the state of Maryland is the only one, except for the single district state of Hawaii, in which the state pays 100% of the cost of building new schools and of renovating old ones in certain cases. He quotes a National School Public Relations Association newsletter which states that as the Maryland public school construction program nears the end of its second year, "even those who originally opposed it are recognizing their mistake."

According to the NSPRA newsletter, "The educators' greatest fear — loss of local control — has not materialized." One superintendent, Homer O. Elseroad, originally regarded as one of the program's chief critics, said, "School facilities in Maryland will be much better in a few years than they would have been otherwise." Another superintendent, Jack B. Kussmaul, was quoted as saying, "The program has resulted in school facilities previously not possible."

The superintendents reportedly are crediting the new plan of full state funding with improving the quality of school facilities by establishing construction guidelines, requiring a master plan, making landscaping an integral part of building contracts, establishing acceptable equipment lists, and providing for essential minimums, such as gymnasium areas for elementary schools and driver education ranges.

One of the Maryland superintendents, M. Thomas Goedeke of Howard County, says the program has removed the need for local approval of bond issues, sharpened the creativity of local staff through a state review of plans, and instituted "cost reducing building principles."

Elseroad points to other gains: money can be found for emergencies, more emphasis is placed on long-range planning, and general interest rates on bonds are more favorable. The superintendents say equalization of school facilities is occurring as the cost of construction is being borne equitably throughout the state. And the program makes state expertise and technical assistance available to local districts.

School Boards Will Hear New State Director

Area school board members and superintendents will gather at the Red Bud High School on Tuesday, to take part in the semi-annual dinner meeting of the Illinois Association of School Boards. George Moore Sr. of the Granite City Board of Education is the division's first vice-chairman.

The evening meeting consists of a dinner, a keynote address and five concurrent panel presentations. The keynote speaker is Dr. Harold Seamon Jr., executive director — designate, IASB.

The five panel topics are: financing public education, effective use of the tenure law, school personnel evaluation, a plan for state recognition standards, and the law and the board member.

A custodial workshop will be held for school maintenance personnel during the panel session. Also included on the program will be a report by an IASB representatives on statewide issues confronting education.

IASB is a voluntary service organization of 1,000 Illinois school boards, with headquarters in Springfield. The Southwestern Division includes Randolph, Monroe, St. Clair and Madison Counties.

Harold Landwehrmeyer, a former Granite City who is superintendent of the O'Fallon district, will be a panelist on school law.

B. B. Burgess, current IASB executive director, will review activities of the association. Dr. Seamon, whose topic tomorrow will be "Who Shall Govern?" will assume his Illinois duties July 1.

ECOLOGY MARCHERS from Central Junior High School relax after a "pollution pickup" in downtown Granite City. Fifty students took part in the drive which concluded a series of projects they undertook for an English class. The ecology marchers collected several large bags of trash and a box of recyclable glass and aluminum cans.

EARTH WEEK is observed as two third-graders, Tena Norton, with rake, and Julia DeRuntz, prepare to plant flowers Friday at St. Joseph school.

19 Illinois Districts Will Study Year-Round Schooling

Eleven state grants totaling $81,308 have been awarded to 19 school districts to conduct feasibility studies on year-round school programs, Illinois Superintendent of Public Instruction Michael J. Bakalis, has announced.

The grants provide school districts with approximately 80% of the funds necessary to study the feasibility of adopting the full-year school program in one or more schools in the district.

Full-year feasibility studies must include, but are not limited to, the following: educational program, building and space needs, administrative and personnel costs, transition costs and plans to provide equal educational opportunity.

Rather than simply increasing the number of days a student attends school, 12-month plans require each student to attend school the traditional 180 to 185 days, but stagger the vacation periods so that a certain percentage of students is on vacation throughout the year.

Thus, a greater number can attend school in existing facilities. Supt. Bakalis said the full year school is not seen as a panacea that will solve all the economic and learning problems in a school district.

But he added, "The flexibility gained by the year-round school opens many opportunities to provide a more effective and individualized learning environment as well as more efficient utilization of existing school facilities."

Presently, two school systems in Illinois, the Chicago Public Schools (five attendance centers) and the entire Valley View Unit District 365U, operate on a full-year school plan.

The amounts of the grants and the districts receiving them are:

$1,824 to Pease-Robbins Elementary District 143½;
$3,200 to Waukegan Community School District 60;
$4,000 to Washington Community High School District 308 in cooperation with Washington Elementary District 50, Central School District 51, and Pleasant View Elementary District 822, all of Tazewell County;
$2,000 to Waterloo Community Unit District 5;
$10,600 to Dundee Community Unit District 300;
$3,000 to Dixon Community Unit District 170;
$1,700 to Meridian Community

Unit District 101;
$3,360 to Markham Elementary District 144;
$10,200 to Peoria Charter District 150;
$7,800 to Lake Park High School District 108 in cooperation with Itasca Elementary District 10, Medinah Elementary District 11, Roselle Elementary District 12, Bloomingdale Elementary District 13 and d Keeneville Elementary District 20.

$17,984 to the City of Chicago District 299 including Crane High School, Disney Magnet School, DuSable High School, Foreman High School, King School, Marshall High School, Senn High School and Waller High School.

School Financing Subject Of Conflicting Proposals

By RAY SERATI
Copley News Service

Springfield—Each time legislation is introduced in the General Assembly dealing with state aid to public education the matter is always complex. As always this year the General Assembly has two spending proposals for elementary and secondary education. One is sponsored by the Democrats and one by the Republicans. Gov. Daniel Walker has estimated in his 1974 fiscal year budget that spending in this area should be increased some $134 million.

The Democrats are pushing a proposal that also calls for a two-year freeze on all property tax rates for educational purposes in the high-rate districts. This would affect such unit districts as those which have taxes of $3 or more per $100 assessed valuation, and those unit districts which have taxes of $2.20 or more per $100 valuation.

The Democratic proposal also calls for a lowering of the qualifying rates for the dual districts—those districts which have elementary and secondary schools governed by separate boards of education.

Unit districts are those districts which have one board of education for both the schools.

The Democrats want to lower the qualifying for the dual districts by .04%, for elementary districts and by .02% for the high schools.

So this would mean a minimum tax rate of 82-cents per $100 valuation for the dual high schools and 80-cents for the dual elementary districts. The qualifying rate for the districts is the minimum amount of tax that must be levied by a district in order to be eligible for state aid.

One of the salient points of the Republican proposal, which is being advanced by Rep. G. L. Hoffman (R-Elmhurst) seeks to throw out the so-called foundation level theory which is now used. In its place would be a "resource equalizer." Under this proposal, Hoffman points out each pupil in the state would be placed on an equal financial basis.

Under this proposal over a four year span, the allocation would eventually go up to $1,200 per pupil in all districts in the state. This the Republicans believe would eventually mean the state would be taking over the funding of education on the state level.

So all indications are that there is shaping up in the 78th General Assembly a good fight over state aid to public education. The Democrats are also pushing a provision calling for a disadvantaged student weighting factor.

This would be in lieu of the present density factor. The disadvantaged student weighting factor has always caused some concern particularly among the downstate legislators.

But it appears that compromise will probably have to be worked out before a definite state aid formula for aid to public schools is completely worked out and passed.

No. 1 Health Problem Will Hit 20 Million; Psychiatric Recovery Chances Are Good Warrior Trackmen 3rd in Conference

By ROBERT BETTS
Copy News Service

Twenty million people living today in the United States are headed for mental breakdown.

For many, the signs may not be evident right now — but it is a statistical fact that one person in every ten will sooner or later suffer some kind of mental disorder requiring professional help.

Mental illness is America's major health problem. It hospitalizes more people than all other illnesses combined, including cancer and heart disease.

On any day there are 753,000 persons under psychiatric care in hospitals alone, plus about $172,000 who are on a "trial visit" or a similar form of supervised community care.

There are 548 mental hospitals in the United States.

They include 304 state and county hospitals, 63 Veterans Administration neuropsychiatric hospitals, two private psychiatric hospitals.

In addition there are 2,250 public and private clinics serving an estimated 1,350,000 outpatients.

The National Institute of Mental Health estimates that mental illness costs the country more than $20 billion a year in medical bills and lost productivity.

Business executive, politician or soldier, white-collar worker or blue-collar worker — no person is immune.

Particularly distressing is the growth of the problem among young people.

Authorities estimate that there are more than a million children suffering from serious emotional disturbances or from outright schizophrenia or other psychotic condition.

Ten per cent of all school-age children have emotional problems requiring psychiatric help.

The number of boys 10 to 14 in mental hospitals has increased sixfold since 1950, compared with only a twofold increase in total population of this age group.

The number of young people aged 15 to 24 in mental hospitals has risen 35%. An additional 70% increase is expected for the coming year.

This compares with an increase of 30% for this segment of the total U.S. population.

Suicide is the second leading cause of death among college students.

In a report "Crisis in Child Mental Health: Challenge for the '70s," published by the Congress-appointed Joint Commission on Mental Health of Children, a strong plea was made for increased acceptance of a more flexible view of mental health and a more concrete approach toward emotional disturbances in children.

"There are more children suffering from severe mental illness than current resources can possibly care for," said Irving H. Chase, president of the National Association for Mental Health (NAMI).

Only one in every five state mental hospitals makes any provision for mentally ill children, according to the NAMI.

Of those that do, only a few provide the separate care, and the treatment, special attention and schooling such children need.

Of the 4,000 children now in state mental hospitals, fewer than 1,000 are said to be getting this kind of special attention.

The overall lack of adequate facilities for treating the mentally sick of all ages is one of the chief concerns of the NAMI.

"Only custodial care is received by the great majority of patients in state mental hospitals," Chase said.

"A very small percentage receive intensive psychiatric treatment, even though research has demonstrated that some patients who have been in the hospital as long as five, 10 or 20 years recover when they receive intensive treatment."

"The reason for this situation is that few state hospitals get the necessary funds to provide adequate staff and equipment for this treatment."

The amount a hospital spends for the maintenance of patients varies widely from state to state.

Average daily expenditure in public mental hospitals is $3.34 per patient, but in some institutions it is as low as $3.99.

The California state mental health budget is perhaps one of the most dramatically expanded in the country, with about $26 per day spent on each hospitalized patient.

Veterans administration psychiatric services spend around $16 per patient per day.

Average expenditure per patient per day in private psychiatric hospitals is $100.

Many public mental hospitals are mammoth institutions, often overcrowded, isolated from the community, crippled by acute personnel shortages, inadequate facilities and insufficient equipment.

For every patient who receives any kind of treatment which may include being seen by a psychiatrist perhaps once a month, and then only for a few minutes, there is likely to be another who receives nothing except custodial care.

California is a leader in developing alternate methods of health care delivery.

A large part of the battle against mental illness is now waged outside of the big institutions, in neighborhood clinics.

Operating under various labels — "crisis center," "day care center," "guidance clinic" or straight "mental health clinic" — they are part of the growing community mental health movement.

Seventy per cent of patients now in mental hospitals, providing they receive proper treatment, have a good chance of coming out either totally recovered or, with adequate aftercare, able to take up a useful life again.

Twenty-five years ago, a victim of schizophrenia, faced a 50-50 chance of being hospitalized for more than a year.

Today, providing he enters an adequately staffed institution, his chance of release within a period ranging from a week to a year has increased to four out of five.

Such is the measure of progress in the treatment of mental illness since the dark days when victims were locked away in insane asylums and treated as social outcasts.

New therapeutic techniques, aided by advances in neurobiological and biochemical research, are bringing relief to thousands.

Many of the more moderate cases can now be greatly improved as a result of short-term therapy, often involving no more than a series of "talking-out sessions with a psychiatrist."

Many other psychiatric disorders are helped by tranquilizers and antidepressants.

Modern drugs have made possible tremendous advances in the treatment of emotionally disturbed individuals," said Dr. Bertram S. Brown, director of the National Institutes of Mental Health.

Electric shock treatment has had considerable success with certain depressive disorders, although since the advent of newer therapeutic drugs, the utilization of shock therapy has declined to a considerable degree.

Still the most baffling of mental disorders, one which each year hospitalizes more than a quarter of a million persons, is schizophrenia.

Commonly known as "split personality," it is characterized by hallucinations, delusions, generally disorganized thinking and impairment of emotional response.

For those who have failed to respond to conventional psychotherapy, drugs or shock treatment, an operation may be effective.

Advances in microscopy have led to the uncovering of vital information about the location and function of key structures, and enabled surgeons to probe the human brain in an increasingly successful attempt to correct serious mental disorders.

Practitioners report improvement rates as high as 80% among patients who have been institutionalized for long periods, suffering from schizophrenia, a severe depression or anxiety and periodic outbursts of uncontrolled violence.

In many cases where psychosurgery has been used, such symptoms have disappeared or been brought under control to such an extent that the persons have been able to resume normal lives.

Brain surgery is still a highly controversial subject, however, directed as ways of treating serious mental illness which do not involve cutting into brain tissue.

One method that is reported to have brought temporary relief to some patients is the use of high-frequency sound waves to interrupt the electrical conductivity of the brain.

Meanwhile, the search for underlying causes of mental illness laboratory work devoted to uncovering the chemical and biological makeup and functioning of the human brain, sociological factors also are being taken into account.

The extra stresses put on individuals by a modern, urban environment, the fading of the family concept, which leads to "personal" living and difficulty in relating to society, are frequently cited as contributing causes.

Dr. David Rosenfield, of the National Institutes of Mental Health, said:

"Despite the fear in the fight against this scourge, the NIMH supports related scientific research and education programs, studies in social action and legislative activity to stimulate provision of adequate facilities and services for mentally ill persons in every community."

Health has reported there is growing evidence that all kinds of abnormal behavior might be hereditary.

The genetic evidence is not always clear and final, he said, and the contributing effect of family and other environmental influences is not well understood.

But "there is sufficient evidence for genetic factors in all the behavioral disorders for us to take the genetic hypothesis seriously."

He emphasizes the role of genetics in a recent book, "Genetic Theory and Abnormal Behavior."

But he also suggests that the high frequency of schizophrenia may be due to the erosion of the psychic resistance of individuals under the stress of modern society.

Irving H. Chase, president of the National Association for Mental Health, admits:

"Despite the exciting advances made in ways to treat mental illness — and despite the improvements achieved in public attitudes toward persons who have received treatment — we have to acknowledge that as yet we know little about the causes and initial prevention of mental illness."

NEWS NOTES

Living costs rose nine-tenths of 1% in March, the biggest one-month increase in 22 years, the government said Friday.

In the first three months of Phase 3 controls, consumer prices are up at an annual rate of 8.5%.

The staff of Gov. Daniel Walker believes higher taxes would be needed to fully implement either of two school aid plans.

State Sup. Michael Bakalis would adjust the present formula to provide $134 million more than the $108 million of 1972-73, Rep. Gene Hoffman (R, Elmhurst), chairman of the Illinois School Problems Commission, favors a new formula related to assessing levels; it is estimated to cost an extra $148 million in the first year.

A reduction-in-force program was placed into effect today at the Headquarters, Army Aviation Systems Command, 12th and Spruce streets, St. Louis; 42 employees have been identified for separation from federal service and a total of 629 will be affected as Avscm reallocates its manpower resources.

Those not receiving reduction notices include 331 who will be reassigned and 256 others will be offered lower grade positions at the Headquarters.

The West Alton, Mo., levee broke in two places Saturday morning, causing new flooding after many of the effects of an earlier flood had been remedied.

Extension of the Great River Road south from Niedringhaus Avenue, including an overpass, was endorsed by the Great Alton Association of Commerce last week.

With speculation increasing that the U.S. may defeat a proposed Waterloo-Columbia airport plan through indefinite delay, the East-West Gateway Coordinating Council is preparing two alternate regional transportation plans, one calling for the major new Illinois airport and the other emphasizing expansion of Lambert Airport in Missouri.

The Madison County Board was told last week that Circuit Clerk Willard Portell has entered into a contract with his office employees' union Local 799, American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, AFL-CIO.

A board member objected that Portell was doing so at the expense of taxpayers and contended that such an agreement should not be binding on the board. Another board member quoted Portell as saying that he had the right to do so under state statutes.

The pact permits dismissal for not remaining politically loyal. It sets up uniform working conditions and fringe benefits, Portell said, describing it as fair.

A shortage of diesel fuel may curtail towboat barge activity at St. Louis throughout 1973, it was reported Saturday.

State Treasurer Alan Dixon said Thursday there is a chance a state lottery may win Assembly approval this spring.

SCHOOLS REOPEN TO END EASTER VACATION

All students enrolled in the Granite City and Madison public school districts returned to school today following a week-long Easter vacation.

Venice public schools and St. Mary's School in Madison, St. Mary's School in Venice, Elizabeth, Sacred Heart and St. Joseph parochial schools in Granite City will resume regular classes tomorrow.

St. Margaret Mary School will resume classes on Thursday morning at the regular time.

Training of Hunting Dogs Through Year Gains Support

An amendatory bill to permit hunting dog training throughout the year has the support of Gov. Dan Walker and the State Department of Conservation. The bill advocates early favorable action so that its provisions may be applicable this spring.

The amendment (HB 783) to Illinois' statutory game code has been introduced in the House by Rep. Kenneth Boyle (D-Carlinville), member of the House Agriculture and Natural Resources Committee.

The bill also provides for coon and fox hound field trials to be open both day and night. It would ban dog training and field trials only during the 10 days preceding and 10 days following the fur-bearing season.

Governor Walker commended Rep. Boyle for his far-sightedness in introducing legislation that would allow dog owners the opportunity to train and upgrade their hunting breeds.

The governor said, "Training of hounds is a very important facet of hunting and outdoor recreation. However, just as important, this bill also allows pointing and retrieving dogs to be trained, which is vital to hunters and has long been advocated by conservationists."

Previously, the game code prohibited the training of pointing dogs during spring and summer months, and during the 7th General Assembly, this restriction was broadened to include all dogs.

This was done to protect animal and bird species; however, studies have shown that free-running farm dogs and cats are the most damaging to wild animals and that organized field trials has very little impact on wildlife.

"During the spring and early summer months, training of young hounds and other hunting breeds is very important to the hunter," Anthony Dean, director of the Department of Conservation, said. "House Bill 783 would provide opportunity for dog training during these critical months."

Training of hunting dogs year-round is important in disciplinary control, in keeping dogs in good physical condition and in sharpening canine senses. This results in premium hunting opportunities during the season and in good recovery of game by retrievers.

Most neighboring states do not have restrictive dog training laws. These include Missouri, Iowa, Wisconsin, Kentucky, and Arkansas.

Facts The Public Should Know About Chiropractic

1. Doctors of Chiropractic and Doctors of Medicine are examined by the same medical board in order to be licensed to practice in the State of Illinois.
2. In 1969 Illinois passed the Insurance Equality Law. This law states that if an insurance company pays a medical doctor, it must pay a chiropractic doctor on an equal basis.
3. The educational requirement of the State of Illinois for a Doctor of Chiropractic is a minimum of six years of College in an accredited institution.
4. In this last Congress, the Medicare law was amended to include the services of Doctors of Chiropractic. The House of Representatives 306 to 1 and the U. S. Senate 66 to 6. The President of the United States signed the bill into law shortly thereafter. Coverage begins July 1, 1973.

Bob Scott Outshines Brother Jim on Wesleyan Ball Team

It isn't surprising that Scott is a hitting sensation for Illinois Wesleyan University's baseball team. After all, Jim Scott led the Titans in hitting with a .352 average last season and also was the team leader in runs batted in, doubles, triples, hits and total bases.

Jim got off to a .308 start as the Titans won their first five games this season—but is taking a back seat to brother Bob. Both are former Madison High School athletes whose family now lives in Collinsville.

Bob, a stocky junior who batted only seven times last season, has won the starting catching job with lustrous hitting and improved defense.

Playing in four games, he has had hits in 13 times at bat for a .385 average. He swatted three home runs, one more than the entire squad produced in 1972, and drove in eight runs, just two under Jim's team leading season total a year ago. Bob's slugging average is a fantastic .1077.

"Bob is nearly 15 pounds lighter this year. As a result, he's quicker, more mobile and thus a better receiver," said Coach Jack Horenberger of the 5-foot, 10-inch 180-pounder.

"Because of his defense he didn't really get a chance to show what he could do offensively his first two years. But I knew after watching him in our brief practices last fall that we had to give him a shot this year."

Bob has very good power and in our wind sprints there are now only four or five players on the squad who are faster," Horenberger said.

Bob's homer into the wind provided the second run in a 3-0 opening victory over Alton on Wednesday. His two-run blast provided the runs that ended the game under the 10-run rule in a 1-1 tie triumph over Carroll.

His two-run single provided insurance in a 4-1 conquest of Millikin and his two-run homer put the Titans on the comeback trail after they had spotted Millikin a 5-0 first-inning lead in the second game of the twin bill.

Jim Scott, plagued by illness the day before the Millikin game, struck out three times in the opening game. Then the senior left fielder singled and tripled at key times to drive in two runs and score twice in the nightcap. He had four hits in 13 official times at bat, but also had drawn six walks.

The Titans were hitting .321 as they headed south on a trip that saw them rained out of their first three games. That's quite a contrast to the .202 team average of 1972, when they scored one run in the first five games. This year they scored 38 times in the first five games while holding opponents to 10 runs, eight of which came in the second Millikin contest.

Sharing the spotlight with Bob Scott was junior shortstop Mike Sprague of Clinton, who batted an even .500 on nine hits in 18 times at bat. He had two triples and a double and also stole three bases.

Also over .500 were freshman right fielder Mike Spong of Naperville, at .333, and second baseman Kevin Keys of Springfield and first baseman Robin Cooper of Bloomington, both at .333.

Wesleyan, which has won or shared the College Conference of Illinois and Wisconsin title 14 times, placed second seven times, is off to a good start with a 4-0 CCW record. The next league games are at Wheaton Wednesday.

ACNE CAN SCAR

Among adolescents, acne is the most often found skin problem. And, it is a mistaken notion that acne needs no treatment because it will eventually go away by itself. Neglected acne can result in skin pitting, blotching, and other disfiguring scars. Emotionally it can leave a devastating scar.

Fortunately, the list of possible treatments for acne is especially good. Besides the common sense rules of a healthy diet and good everyday skin hygiene, there are many specific medicines that a physician can prescribe and which we regularly stock. Prompt treatment is important so don't wait for acne to go away.

YOU OR YOUR DOCTOR CAN PHONE US when you need a delivery. We will deliver promptly without extra charge. A great many people rely on us for their health needs. We welcome requests for delivery service and charge nothing.

ords for the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers.

A fall of .35 of an inch was recorded Friday, with another .15 of an inch Saturday. Only a trace was shown on rain gauges during a regular rain fall at 8 a.m. today for the last 24-hour period.

The weekend rainfall brought to 3.13 inches the total precipitation in the Quad-City area for the 23 days of this month, and to 8.70 inches the total so far this year.

This area had 1.08 inches of rain in January, .58 of an inch in February and 4.91 inches in March.

Rain has fallen in the Quad-Cities on 10 of the 23 days this month, while a trace has been registered on three other days.

This year's rainfall is comparable to that of the same period a year ago when there were 9.74 inches for the first four months of 1972.

High winds have damaged eight homes in a flooded area of Chouteau Island south of the old Chain of Rocks Canal bridge. The homes had been occupied since flood water inundated their area several weeks ago.

Mrs. Marks Bashor, owner of one of the homes — a two story brick and block structure — said houses "exploded" outward from wind pressure. No estimate of the damage was given.

A full schedule of round-the-clock flood service is to be arranged at a special meeting of the Red Cross board at 4 p.m. today at the Granite City Trust & Savings Bank, Chairman Fox said today.

The Red Cross will set up its feeding station on the west bank of the Chain of Rocks Canal, south of the Interstate 270 bridge and north of the old Chain of Rocks Canal bridge, the last location of the canteen facility in the previous flood fight, Fox said.

An emergency canteen unit will be reacquainted from an affiliated Red Cross chapter which loaned the equipment earlier.

Crunch Expected in Park, Recreation Funding Here

By JOAN MURARO
Copley News Service

Springfield—with drastic cuts likely in the amounts of federal money available for park and recreation purposes in Illinois, things aren't as bad as they seem.

They're worse.

Bruce Rogers, chief of the division of long range planning in the state conservation department, said that present indications are that the state will get less than $2 million from federal funds for such purposes in fiscal 1974, compared to $7.3 million in the current fiscal year.

But that, says Rogers, is only part of the problem.

Last January, President Richard Nixon announced an 18 month freeze in Housing and Urban Development funds which previously had supplied funds to local governments under its open space land programs.

In addition, revenue sharing regulations specifically exclude direct grants of revenue sharing funds to any specific taxing district. In Illinois, perhaps as much as 90% of local recreational facilities are provided by park districts, forest preserves and conservation districts, none of which could receive revenue sharing funds directly.

It would be possible, Rogers said, for local municipalities to share their part of revenue sharing monies with these agencies, such as the city of Springfield sharing its part with the local park district. But Rogers agreed few communities were likely to do so. Failure of municipalities to adequately provide for park purposes was one of the chief reasons separate park districts, with individual taxing powers, were set up in the first place, he said.

Current indications are that unless Congress overrides President Nixon's recommendations for appropriations cuts, Illinois will receive about $1.9 million for federal land and water conservation funds for fiscal '74.

For another year, Rogers said, the Illinois share was about $2 million but it was upgraded drastically several years ago, with the federal allotment to Illinois totaling $102 million in fiscal '72, and $10.3 million in fiscal '71.

The aid program is conducted by the Bureau of Outdoor Recreation (BOR) of the U. S. Department of the Interior, with local governments and the state sharing equally in the funds.

The conservation department had responsibility for preliminary approval of local projects and for dispersing funds after final BOR approval. The local agency then completed and paid for the project and was reimbursed by the state department for half the cost.

Almost all project applications in the past received approval. Now, with increasing numbers of requests for aid and the declining funds available, a huge dollar gap has developed between requests for funds, and funds available, according to Conservation Director Anthony Dean.

Requests already on file alone would, if approved, require all the fiscal '73 funds still on hand, and the entire projected allotment for '74, Dean said.

Rogers said something under half a million dollars still is being held from the '73 allotment. Faced with the fund dry-up, the department is going to have to take a new look at priorities. Rogers said, to determine how the available funds can best be spent. A deadline of May 1 has been set for submitting projects for funding from the remaining fiscal '73 fund and water conservation funds.

THEFT FROM AUTO

John Varadian, 741 Niedringhaus Ave., reported Thursday that during the past week someone stole two hub caps and a chrome strip from his 1970 Buick.

Members of the Concerned Parents & Citizens group of Madison asked the Madison Board of Education Thursday night to return to Madison County Circuit Court and ask that a temporary busing order be dissolved.

The order calls for busing of junior high school students living near the school to classes. Mrs. Jean Boyer requested that students living less than one and a half miles from the school, including West Madison and Cloverleaf area students, not be bused as the state will not reimburse transportation costs for students residing within a one and a half mile radius of the schools they attend.

Chester McManaway, board member, explained the school board voted early this school year to continue the busing for the safety of the students. Cloverleaf area students have to cross the icy McCambridge Avenue viaduct in the winter and West Madison students have to cross the railroad tracks along State Street, he said.

Mrs. Boyer contended that many taxpayers in the district do not want to pay the expense of busing the children if the state will not reimburse the funds.

It is the responsibility of more, Valmeyer High School; David Heth, junior, Granite City High School; and Linda Ersamer, junior, Edwardsville High School. Heth and Miss Ersamer were tied for first in the junior class contest.

HELPS YOU HEAR WITH NOTHING IN YOUR EAR

It is now possible for thousands of people to enjoy hearing again with nothing in either ear. NO buttons, NO tubes, NO wires, nothing in either ear. For those with this aid may prove to be the best possible way to hear most to nature's own ear. Instead of forcing amplified sound through the impaired outer or middle ear, the patented "B-880" utilizing bone conduction, delivers sound directly to the "hearing center," the inner ear. For many, even this technique may not be the answer. You must try it if you are over to know.

Clarence Thomas York Jr., 38, of Madison, was granted three years probation last week in Madison County Circuit Court in connection with the fatal shooting of Joseph C. Pinero, 18, of Madison, at a wedding reception on March 26, 1972.

He had pleaded guilty to a charge of involuntary manslaughter after a charge of murder had been removed by the office of the state's attorney.

The shooting occurred on the parking lot at the rear of Buzz's 12th Street Tavern, 1226 Madison Ave., Madison. York was proprietor of the tavern.

In another court action, Michael T. Hamilton, 33, of East St. Louis, was sentenced to a term of four to 10 years at Menard State Penitentiary following a conviction of armed robbery at the Kroger Store, 5401 Collinsville Road, on Sept. 18.

He also had been charged in a series of armed robberies, including some in Fayette County and locally at Viviano's Market on Sept. 14 and at the A&P Market on Sept. 16.

The Grand Jury returned three indictments Thursday afternoon, one of which was suppressed. The other two involved crimes outside of this area.

Dixon Holds Line on Costs Despite Increasing Volume

State Treasurer Alan J. Dixon has announced production of five bills in the Illinois General Assembly establishing his budget for 1974.

"For the third successive year I have held the line on my operating budget, except for a very slight increase mandated by Social Security and Retirement programs," he said.

The state treasurer said that the cost of state government in 1968 was $3.8 billion; in 1969, $4.3 billion; in 1970, $5.8 billion; in 1971, $6.7 billion; and in 1972, $7.5 billion, an increase of 94% in a five-year period. During the same period, the increase in the cost of living, according to the U. S. Department of Labor, was 25.7%.

"In addition to the increase in state government and the cost of living, the work load in the treasurer's office has also increased," Dixon explained. "We are now processing 950,000 warrants a month, up 46% over 1970, and we anticipate an additional 200% increase when the comptroller's office is fully implemented."

"We are servicing $689,000,000 in outstanding bonds at a rate compared to $287,900,000 in 1970, or an increase of 243%. In 1972 we handled 12,600 forgery claims, an increase of 56%."

"We are processing 22,000 court orders for inheritance taxes a year, an increase of 10% since 1970.

"In spite of the increases in work load, cost of state government and cost of living, I am proud to say that my budget has not gone up at all, except for those slight mandated increases," Dixon said.

The treasurer said the second of five bills call for an appropriation of $700,000 for direct payment for services performed by banks in lieu of compensating balances, a reduction of $30,000 under the appropriation asked last year. Under this program funds were made available for additional investments.

"We anticipate that this program will learn $3.7 million in interest for the state by the end of this fiscal year," the treasurer said. "Simply stated, this means that for every $1 spent for the program, we will earn $3 for the state."

The third bill in the series is to implement the 1970 Constitution, which has dictated additional duties for the comptroller and treasurer. "This is our best estimate as to what implementation expenses can be anticipated, but not one penny will be spent unless absolutely necessary," Dixon added.

The fourth and fifth bills are for principal and interest on general obligation bonds and coupons of the state that will mature and those already matured but not yet presented for payment.

"This appropriation is down substantially from last year," Dixon said, "because of anticipated issuances during fiscal year '73 for anti-pollution, transportation A and B and capital development bonds that never materialized until March of this year when capital development and transportation bonds were issued."

"They were issued too late in the fiscal year for any maturity to become due; therefore, we have $42,521,000 that does not have to be reappropriated for fiscal year 1974. This reduction is offset in part by increased fiscal year 1974 maturities."

A Granite City girl, 15, told police last week that her stepfather had attempted to take indecent and deviate liberties with her for the past eight years, a period of time which she said she was afraid to say anything to her mother about the matter.

STOLEN CAR BURNS

A stolen car was pushed over the embankment of the Hartford Canal near Cemetery Road last week. The auto struck a pier and stopped, but the engine continued to run and the rear wheels spun, eventually causing a fire. Mitchell volunteer firemen were called at 10:25 p.m. to extinguish the car fire. The owner has not been identified.

EDISON COLLISION

The car of James Johnessee, 4007 Braden St., struck the parked auto of Robert Mathias, 2833 Ralph St., last week in the 200 block of Edison Avenue.

One of Every 3 Public Water Sources Deficient

Copley News Service

Springfield — Presently about one of every three public water supply sources in Illinois is deficient in some respect, posing a continuing possibility of contaminated water.

John Anderson, chief of the division of public water supplies for the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency, said that some 300 of the state's 1,800 public water supply sources have been found to be deficient and added that some of them have been "very slow" in taking steps to correct the deficiencies.

Stepped-up correction actions are anticipated in the future, following the recent addition of a full time lawyer to the division's staff, Anderson said. Stephen Gunning has joined the division's personnel to handle day-to-day legal work, including enforcement cases, he said. Gunning's hiring brings the division into line with other divisions in the state EPA, each of which has at least one full time lawyer on its staff, with some, including the air and water pollution divisions, each having several.

Anderson stressed that no "crackdown" is planned, and said most of Gunning's activities would probably be routine legal work, such as giving legal advice on division actions, representing the division in actions before the Pollution Control Board, and soon in developing a new, stricter set of rules and regulations for water supply sources, which the PCB will be asked to adopt.

Last year, Anderson said, only seven cases were brought before the PCB for enforcement action, and the EPA's position was upheld in all of them.

One of the most common lacks, he said, involves inadequate storage facilities, which are dangerous because in cases of extremely low water supply, a vacuum can develop which pulls water out of the lines back into the central source, from which it is redistributed to other users.

Improperly constructed wells which serve as municipal water supplies are also common problems, Anderson said, citing a case near Moline where the well is subject to Mississippi river flood waters.

"In any case where a well isn't properly sealed, it can be contaminated," Anderson said. "In one community for instance, the well is in an area where cattle graze. Any heavy rain means the cattle waste can soak into the ground and into the well, if it isn't properly built."

In one of the cases which the division won last year, a homeowner subdivided his property, built several homes, then merely tapped into his own water main and ran a three-quarter inch line nearly a mile to the new houses.

As a result of inadequate supply, houses at each end of the line were frequently under pressure at all, and vacuum conditions resulting could draw waste water from the main or other contaminated water into mains providing drinking water for another home.

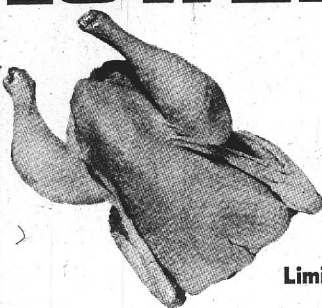

Usually, Anderson said, the division prefers to notify public water supply sources of problems and give them advice on correcting them, to having to take action to force correction.

"Our goal," he said, "is to find trouble sources and get them corrected before the trouble can happen. Once a public water supply has been actually contaminated, it's way too late to be talking action."

The new rules and regulations the division hopes to see adopted will be in the nature of an updating, Anderson said, since the standards now in use were drawn in 1966, and technology and techniques have changed and improved a great deal since then.

Now that the Easter crush is over, we can settle down to running our regular low price program. Regardless of what we did last week, on today's prices, Easter Hams just couldn't be a "bargain". We did the best we could. Now, for this week's sale, Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday only, we are going to try it one more time, FRYING CHICKENS at 49 cents per pound. We don't think we will get into trouble this time because we are setting a few "ground rules." We think that this way we can control the sale and not run out. We don't want to go through all of that business again. We have a great sale on sliced Kraft American Cheese, 8-pound package $2.89. They discussed their duties as to investigation and reporting to the court, as well as supervision of those persons placed on probation.

They assist persons on probation in job placement, as well as planning additional education for them and providing counseling. "So much depends upon the attitude of the individual," the club was told.

Wine Making Topic of Meeting

An unusual and interesting program on grape vineyards and the process for making wines was presented last week at a meeting of the Nameoki Woman's Club.

The event was held at the Nameoki Recreation Center which was decorated in a "strawberry festival" atmosphere. The table appointments were in keeping with the strawberry theme and the hostesses, Mesdames Bess Weiss, Margaret Williams, Lois Parney and Irma Taylor, were dressed in bright red and white costumes.

Lucian Dressel, owner of the Mount Pleasant Vineyards in Augusta, Mo., was the guest speaker. Describing the vineyards, he told how wine is made and the kind of grapes needed to produce a specific type.

During his talk the members and guests were invited to taste various wines.

Guests attending the afternoon meeting were Mrs. Tiberto Ecabero from Mexico, Mrs. Marilyn Bartels of Cebu, Philippines, Mrs. Phyllis Cruise and Mrs. H. E. Lueders.

Members present included Mesdames E. M. Arnovitz, Emmett Beeler, J. C. Byers, Harold Caldwell, Wilford Cooley, Lucian Dressel, John Harsh, Harold Jansen, Russell Johnson, Hugh Kraus, John Lentz, Stanley Mier, Frank Mercer, Louis Meek, Sam Meyer, Emil Mueller, Ted Schaefer, Otto Shelton, Herman Steinberg, James Stuart, Irvy Todd, Elmer Branding, Werner, Miss Lily Dod and Miss Lucinda Huck.

USAF Wings for Michael Patton

Second Lieutenant Michael B. Patton, a former Granite City resident, has received his silver wings upon graduation from the U.S. Air Force Navigator Training School at Mather AFB, Calif.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Luther B. Patton, 7803 Pierce St., Arvada, Colo., formerly of Granite City, and the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. E. S. McElvey of Sullivan, Mo., and Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Patton of Granite City.

LT. Patton has remained at Mather AFB, where he now is receiving navigator-bombardier training. He is a graduate of Arvada High School and received a bachelor of science degree in business from the University of Northern Colorado in 1971.

The former resident was commissioned through the U.S. Air Force Reserve Officers Training Corps, program.

Lecture Series at GC Churches

The first in a series of five lecture discussions presented by Dr. Elton Trueblood, well known speaker, author and professor at large of Earlham College, Richmond, Ind., will begin at 7 p.m. Tuesday at the Nameoki United Methodist Church.

Dr. Trueblood's schedule includes speaking engagements at 7 p.m. Wednesday and Thursday at the Nameoki church and at 10 a.m. Wednesday and Thursday at St. Peter Evangelical United Church of Christ.

In a recent interview, the visiting professor said the two major theological challenges of the day are presenting "an adequate intellectual justification for faith in the living God" and resolving the divisions between the life of personal devotion and the life of social action.

The public is invited to attend the lectures and child care service will be provided at both churches. Further information may be obtained by calling 877-1904 or 877-1956.

The Orchard Merchants' Association, headed by Ross Holbrook, is sponsoring the show. The public is invited to attend from 11 a.m. until 5 p.m. Saturday and from 1 to 5 p.m. Sunday.

Connie Jordan Becomes Mrs. Charles Murphy

Tri-City Park Tabernacle Church was the scene of the wedding of Miss Connie Jordan and Charles T. Murphy at 7 o'clock on the evening of March 24.

The Rev. John Polizzi performed the double ring ceremony.

The theme from "Romeo and Juliet," "For All We Know," "We've Only Just Begun," "Wedding Song," theme from "Love Story" and The Lord's Prayer were the musical selections provided by Mr. and Mrs. Larry Swaim.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Walter L. Jordan of Rural Route Seven, Edwardsville. The groom made his home with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Staiger, 100 Rainbow Drive, Collinsville.

Given in marriage by her father, the former Miss Jordan selected a wedding gown created with a Venice lace bodice with a stand up collar and sheer sleeves.

The white organza skirt, slightly gathered on the sides, was full in the back and encircled at the hemline with a ruffled flounce.

She wore a mantilla veil bordered with a wide scalloped band of matching lace, and she held a bouquet of white roses, pastel colored pom poms and baby breath.

The matron of honor was Mrs. Nancy Martin and the bridesmaids included Miss Sharon O'Beir, Paulette Jacob, Cindy Scharf and Karen Murphy, the latter a sister of the groom.

They wore organza dresses, formal-length, in rainbow colors of pastel green, yellow and pink. Designed in an Empire style their gowns were made with high necklines, lace bodices, white lace cap sleeves and gathered skirts.

Each attendant wore a white picture hat trimmed with streamers in a shade to match her gown and all carried white wicker baskets filled with spring flowers.

Karen Black, the flower girl, was dressed in a blue frock identical in style to the other attendants' gowns. She held a basket of rose petals. Timmy Black was the ringbearer.

Elizabeth Donohue and Terry Crummitt served as the miniature bride and groom.

Attending the groom as best man was Randy Barnett. Groomsmen and ushers included David Heath, David

Nesbit-Burton Wedding At Calvary Baptist Church

Miss Mary Burton, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Burton, 2949 Madison Ave., and Donald Nesbit, son of Mrs. Nancy Nesbit, 4016 Audubon Ave., East St. Louis and the late Alvin Nesbit, were married April 14 at Calvary Baptist Church.

The Rev. Al Slayter performed the double ring ceremony at five o'clock in the evening before an altar decorated with bouquets of white gladioli and mums. Brenda Bevins, organist, furnished several musical selections during the service.

For her wedding, the bride chose a gown of pale pink chiffon over tulle designed with a fitted bodice, featuring a roll collar and an elbow-length bell sleeve.

The full-length skirt was fashioned of tiny fluffed tiers, each edged with a row of delicate lace.

She wore a headpiece of pink flowers to create a halo effect and secure a short pink veil and she carried a nosegay of pink and white carnations festooned with pink streamers.

Maid of honor, Miss Ruth Ann Burton, and bridesmaid, Mrs. Rita Presswood, both sisters of the bride, wore identical gowns of ruby red velvet made in Empire style.

A white lace bib effect accented the fitted bodices and lace was repeated on the stand-up collars and cuffs. Each held a nosegay of red and white carnations enhanced with red ribbons.

Tammy Faye Morris, a niece of the bride, was the flower girl. She was dressed in a pink dotted Swiss tulle embroidered with pink and blue motifs. The

Out-of-town guests here for the wedding were Mrs. J. S. Bush, Miss Rita Kenry and Jerry Burton, all from Kansas City, Mo.; Mr. and Mrs. Bob Smith of Chicago; Mrs. James Morris of La Belle, Mo., and Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Nesbit of Valmeyer, Ill.

Seat Belts Save Lives-Howlett

At least 8,000 lives would be saved annually if all passengers in U.S. motor cars simply fastened their seat belts at all times, Michigan's Highway Department, which is sponsoring a Tri-Chapter Conference of the Highway Financial Management Association in the Peoria Hilton Hotel.

"The figure of 8,000 lives is a conservative estimate," said Howlett. "Some studies have indicated the lifesaving potential of seat belts is much higher. It could be as high as 20,000."

"Seat belts are now installed in 90% of all automobiles in use, but fewer than four in 10 motorists use them. At any given time, only one out of three occupants of passenger cars have their belts fastened."

"Manufacturers of new cars are now required by law to install shoulder belts, so why aren't they used? But studies indicate not even one in 10 drivers actually use their shoulder belts."

"Although a lap belt will restrain a motorist from flying out of his seat in a high-speed crash, only the additional shoulder strap could save him from smashing his head and upper torso against the steering wheel or instrument panel."

"An experiment found a combination of seat and shoulder belts would protect against fatalities in crashes at speeds up to 60 miles an hour."

"Anybody who buys a new car is paying $40 or $45 for the six lap belts and two shoulder belts, so why aren't they used?
Most drivers simply think they have too much bother to fasten them. Some experts feel we ought to have a law to compel motorists to wear the belts, and fines for being caught without them."

"That was tried in Victoria, Australia. It resulted in a decrease of 16% in deaths and injuries in the first nine months."

Evacuate island; No Threat to Community

"If we save Chouteau Island this time, it will be close to a miracle, but we're going to try to do it, a U.S. Corps of Engineers spokesman commented this morning in light of recent predictions that the Mississippi River will reach record flood stage by Saturday."

"It is doubtful whether we're going to hold it this time. There is more of a chance of losing it than this time," he said, referring to a high river stage earlier this month which threatened to break the island's levee.

The island was ordered evacuated by all but volunteers and workers after a meeting at 3 p.m. yesterday at the Corps of Engineers office by the Chain of Rocks Canal locks.

Attending besides Corps of Engineers were William "Mac" of the Levee District and representatives of Madison County and the state civil defense officers, the Illinois Department of Conservation, members of the Madison County sheriff's staff, and three members of the Chouteau Drainage and Levee District.

"We called the meeting because it is 40.5 feet high and we weren't too shaken because we thought we could handle it.

But before the meeting the prediction was raised to 42.5 feet and that threw a different light on it," the Corps spokesman said.

"It was our concurrence the island should be evacuated by all but workers. We are going to try to get the work done before the high stage hits."

"We are not anticipating having volunteers there when the peak hits," he said, indicating only personnel from the Corps, the levee district and other agencies will remain by mid-week.

He said the levee is saturated and that the higher water is expected to top the levee, which it did not do earlier this spring.

All sandbags which were used to reinforce weakened portions of the levee were left in place from the last threat but others from the top were taken to areas deteriorated by wave wash, he said.

"We are going to try to get enough sandbags to stop it but will top the natural levee, which is in quite a few spots," he added.

There is no flood threat to the Quad-Cities.

3,968 New Cases Filed In Court During March and one was convicted by a jury.

Three were sent to prison and six were granted probation.
Forty-six were dismissed and 10 were reduced to misdemeanors.

The court also granted 127

Paul Simon Makes Income Disclosure

Paul Simon, who served from 1969 to 1972 as lieutenant governor and for 14 years in the Illinois General Assembly, has made his income public in detail for the 15th consecutive

"Complete disclosure of income, financial assets and liabilities is a fundamental safeguard we should demand of all elected, and key appointed officials," Simon said.

"I have never regretted disclosing my income in detail from the first day I entered public life. If I ever hold office again, I will follow the same practice."

Lieutenant governor, Simon became the first elected official in the nation to require public disclosure of income in detail by his staff. Also in his financial disclosure released to-

Madison Police Stop Drug Store Burglary

Madison police foiled a burglary at Reese Drug Store, 301 Madison Ave., Madison, at 5:45 a.m. Sunday in which about $100 worth of prescription medications and drugs had been removed from cabinets and placed near a door.

The drugs, both "uppers and downers" according to a pharmacist, could have sold on the street for more than $500, police were told. Included were codeine, morphine sulphate and other drugs classified as "dangerous and controlled substances," police said.

The drugs were found at the bottom of a stairway leading upstairs in the building. Nothing apparently had been taken.

Entry was gained by prying open the south side door into a hallway and then breaking a hole in a door from the hallway into the pharmacy.

A screw driver and pry bar were found by the interior door. A jack and jack handle were found by the exterior door.

The Madison police K-9 (trained police dog) unit was brought in to search the building, but no one was found inside. A burglar alarm alerted police to the crime in progress.
